

Vocal Chaos is one of Chicago's most exciting and unique a cappella bands. Always fresh and fun, their arrangements include classic rock songs from artists like The Jackson 5, The Rolling Stones and Elvis Costello, as well as hits from current groups like Tonic, *NSYNC, Counting Crows and The BoDeans. Celebrating their 10-year anniversary in 2006, this semi-pro group of actors, consultants, marketers, students, computer geeks, a playwright and a cartographer performs throughout the Chicagoland area at sporting arenas, corporate events, school assemblies, charity functions, a host of other public venues and even on the big screen. You might have seen them performing at Soldier Field exclusively for the Chicago Fire (Major League Soccer team), entertaining at SeptemberFest in Schaumburg, IL, or singing the National Anthem for the World Champion Chicago White Sox. (If you look quickly, you can even see some of them in the upcoming Jennifer Aniston/Vince Vaughn movie, "The Break Up.") These guys live to sing the songs you know and love, in a way you've never heard before! It's all you would expect from your favorite band, minus the instruments! Come visit the guys at www.vocalchaos.com and hear what you've been missing!

Hotti Biscotti

Addison Trail High School

Chaos spent a morning with music and non-music students both in performance settings and in classroom workshops, to show young people some new, non-traditional, and fun applications of music.

The members of Chaos believe strongly in supporting music in public schools. Since every Chaos-onian, past and present, discovered music in school, we feel a social responsibility to encourage young people to sing. We believe that our unique twists on popular tunes show students that music can be fun for everyone and encourage them to explore how music can play a part in their own lives.
